

Talepakemalai.

Lapita and its transformations in the Mussau Islands of Near Oceania

Professor Patrick Vinton Kirch
University of Hawai'i

Centre for Archaeological Research

Seminar Series 2022

In this presentation Professor Kirch will present the highlights from his most recent book, Talepakemalai. Lapita and Its Transformations in the Mussau Islands of Near Oceania.

Talepakemalai is a single integrated volume in which all of the results of the Mussau Project, including more recent analyses of chronology, obsidian, ceramics, and faunal remains, are brought together.

It thus presents the definitive final report on the excavation not only of Talepakemalai, but also of all Lapita and post-Lapita sites investigated during the Mussau Project.

Speaker

Professor Patrick Vinton Kirch,
University of Hawai'i

Presented on Zoom here
Passcode: 651737

Details

Friday 22 April, 11am AEST
Online by Zoom

Centre for Archaeological Research

Contact

Mathieu Leclerc
E : mathieu.leclerc@anu.edu.au

Australian National University